

Implantation dermoid on the sole of left foot.

The patient was a boat builder who spent his working days in sandals.

He had no memory of the injury that punctured the skin, but was often getting things caught between the foot and sandal.

