

Parastomal hernia

This is an unusual type of incisional hernia where the hernia has arisen through the defect made to bring the bowel out as a stoma. The axial CTs below demonstrate a parastomal hernia. The bowel within the hernia has formed a closed loop and has become ischaemic; note that the proximal bowel is dilated.

Fluid in hernia

Abdominal wall defect

