

Obstructing carcinoma of sigmoid colon.

An 81 year old lady presented with distension, colicky pain and absolute constipation. This sagittal reformatted CT scan shows an obstructing 3cm long carcinoma of the sigmoid colon with the appearance of an applecore, a description originally from the appearance on barium enema. The patient was initially stented before definitive resection.

